Description

This lidded 10litre storage box is ideal for either keeping breeding pairs for egg collection or for growing a number of large larvae in same box. The lid is lockable to stop the animals pushing their way out. As you would expect from a Rhino beetle UK product the box comes with predrilled and pest protected aeration holes.

This box is ideal for large larvae such as Dynastes hercules in their final months of growth before pupation, when even our 1.5litre grow jars are becoming too small for their comfort.
